ABSTRACT

Intended to promote communication and collaboration among professionals across the United States, this directory brings together a variety of information on key leaders in the field of school psychology. Governance members in the American Psychological Association (APA) who work in school psychology are listed, as well as leaders in the following organizations: APA's Division of School Psychology; the Council of Directors of School Psychology Programs; Trainers of School Psychologists; National Council of State Consultants; American Board of School Psychology; American Academy of School Psychology; and National Association of School Psychologists. Individuals are listed in alphabetical order with demographic data, and are also organized by area of expertise, primary organizational affiliation, and in a quick-reference telephone-fax listing. Dear School Psychology Leader:

The American Psychological Association (APA) is pleased to announce the publication of the fourth edition of the APA Leaders in School Psychology Directory (1996). This document brings together information on key leaders in this critical specialty dealing with schooling and education. We believe that the Directory is a reference that you will find useful in your work to promote communication and collaboration among colleagues across the nation.

The APA Center for Psychology in Schools and Education (CPSE), Education Directorate and Psychology in the Schools, Practice Directorate, have combined forces to produce the 1996 Directory. The fourth edition includes a listing of APA governance members who work in this area as well as leaders in APA's Division of School Psychology. In addition, leaders from the Council of Directors of School Psychology Programs, Trainers of School Psychologists, National Council of State Consultants, American Board of School Psychology, American Academy of School Psychology, and National Association of School Psychologists are listed. These key individuals are listed in alphabetical order with demographic data, and are also organized by areas of expertise, primary organizational affiliation, and in a quick-reference telephone/fax listing.

We view the APA Leaders in School Psychology Directory as an evolving document and welcome your suggestions for refinement. We hope that you will find it valuable in your communications with other national leaders serving America's children and youth.

Sincerely,

Ronda C. Talley, Ph.D.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

The 1996 APA Leaders in School Psychology Directory is a joint project of the APA Center for Psychology in Schools and Education, Education Directorate and the Policy and Advocacy in the Schools Program, Practice Directorate, we are especially appreciative to Gena Hill, who entered and edited data for the publication.

We also are grateful to Russ Newman, J.D., and Jill Reich, Ph.D., for their commitment to and leadership on schooling and education issues. The continuous support of APA Board of Educational Affairs, chaired by Lynn Rehm, Ph.D., and the members of BEA's Panel on Public Policy, Innovations, and Applications to Education, Norma D. Feshbach, Ph.D., Pamela Reid, Ph.D. and Claire Ellen Weinstein, Ph.D., are also acknowledged. In addition, the support of the Board of Professional Affairs and the Committee for the Advancement of Professional Practice is greatly appreciated.

Once again, we extend thanks to the many psychologists working in schools who demonstrate such masterful leadership on education reform and children's services, as well as the dedicated faculty who train them. Their responses to the call for information for the Directory greatly facilitated the revision process and assured accuracy of these data.
